of the greatest satisfactions in buying goods from this firm is that it manufactures but one quality of goods. Everything is solid silver, and it is all .925 fine, or .025 oner than that used by the United States Government in making coins. The firm never deviates from this rule, and consequently any one buying from it is not obliged look at the quality, but simply to whether or not the yle suits him. DISCUSSING CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

D. B. EATON HAS NO DOUBT THAT GENERAL HAR-RISON WILL SUPPORT IT HEARTILY.

The Friday morning talk before the pupils of Packard's Business College yesterday was delivered by Dorman B. Eaton, on the subject, "Can there be Reform in the Civil Service?" rise of Civil Service Reform in this country and of its progress under President Cleveland's administration. He said that it had been prophesied that the reform could not stand the advent of a Democratic administration, but he claimed that it had not lost anything that it had started with, although he admitted that "removals have been disgraceful and needless in number." He then asked the question, Will the Republicans attempt to resume the enforce

I don't consider that a debatable question. The examinations are not abandoned to be resumed. They are being carried on every day. The only question is, will the Kepublicans break down the enforcement? I look upon that as absolutely impossible. In the person of General Harrison we have a man who voted for the bill in the first place, a man of deep convictions on the subject, and who will not only sustain it, but will enlarge it. I find evidence of that in his character and history and in the pledge of his party.

He then read the Civil Service plank of the Republican party, and continued:

publican party, and continued: I have no more confidence in any pledge for the future than I have that that pledge will be carried out in the letter. That it will be carried out as fully in the spirit I am not so confident. I think, however, there will be a good step taken in that direction. I don't think there will be so many removals in the future as in the past.

Virginia Mason, the school teacher against whom charges of improper conduct were brought last summer, is reported to be married to Robert W. Mc-Master, the man with whom her name was associated in those charges. McMaster is a poultry dealer in Washington Market, and had been married. He claims to have obtained a divorce from his first wife and is now living in Harlem with Miss Mason as his wife.

The investigation of the case of Miss Mason wa brought about by Commissioner Grace Dodge, of the Board of Education, and the school trustees of the ward in which Miss Mason taught, after giving the case their attention during the entire summer, foported that the charges against her were not su tained. She was exonerated, but at once resigned from her position as teacher. Mrs. McMaster, the first wife of R. W. McMaster, says that she signed papers for a separation from her husband, but knows nothing of a divorce. One of the trustees said yesterday that all the evidence that could be obtained was examined in Miss Mason's case, but there was absolutely nothing to show any improper relations with McMaster.

A VERMONT CHARTER FOR A NICARAGUA CANAL. of Nicaragua by special act of the Vermont Legislature which was published on Wednesday, probably will not interfere with a Federal charter. A bill to incorporate the company was passed by the United States Senate on February 27, 1888, and on the next day sent to the House of Representatives. It is expected that it will be passed early in the next session, be-cause the lack of a quorum alone prevented its passage several days in the last session. Horace L. Hotchkiss, the treasurer of the company, said yesterday that the obtaining of the Vermont charter was simply a progressive step by the company.
"Several large stockholders live in Verment," he said, "and it was at their suggestion that the application was made. It was granted by a unanimou vote in both branches of the Legislature. prefer to be chartered by Congress, and we have no doubt that the pending bill will be passed at the December session. There will be no confusion in having two charters, for the United States Supreme Court has decided that a company can act under both a state and a Federal charter. It was largely accidental that the bill was not passed by the last House, but it was considered expedient, in view of the delay, to obtain a State charter."

A COSTLY CATHEDRAL TO BE BUILT

The trustees of the projected Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine, which is to be erected on the ground already purchased between Tenth-ave. and Morningside Park, are now awaiting the result of the submission of their ideas to fourteen well-known architects who are expected to furnish plans in the early part of December. The trustees will then appoint a committee to consider the designs and estimates which will be handed in, and to make a choice suited to the financial resources and needs of the Cathedral. The sum of $500,000 has been raised, and subscriptions are constantly received, so that as soon as a decision in regard to the plans has been reached, it is thought that the work on the great building will be promptly begun.

FANCY PRICES FOR BOOKS ON HERALDRY. A considerable part of the libraries of Edward J. O'Reilly and Frank Daulte was disposed of vesterday at the auction rooms of George A. Leavitt & Co., Nos. 787 and 789 Broadway. Despite the rain a fair number were present at the sale and the bidding was lively. Many books, indeed, were sold at their full value, and some at more than their extreme value, although the auctioneer made the usual complaint of people wanting to buy things for nothing. It was noticeable, however, that the famous English works sold far below their value. Oliver Goldsmith's works went for a pittance, and books of this class appeared to be a drug on the market. The books which sold best were those on travel, local history, heraldry and antiquities. The sale will be continued to-day.

MONEY FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS.

The Methodist Missionary Committee yesterday made the following appropriations: Africa, $4,800; South America, $62,660; Foo Chow, $19,414; Central China, $37,895; North China, $38,051; West China, $7,400. The question of building homes for missionaries in China gave rise to some discussion. Chaplain McCabe objected to the amount of $7,000 for such a purpose. He said that Western missionaries in this country were glad to get a house that could be built for $1,500. The committee continues its work to-day.

THE TURF ALLIANCE MUST GO. JOCKEY CLUBS DECLARE WAR AGAINST BOOK-

MAKERS' ASSOCIATIONS. the Turf Alliance, heard last night that the jeckey clubs East and West had declared war against them they began to rip and to tear, to "cuss" and to swear, snort and to cavort. They were a sight to behold

One of the executive committee delivered himself "You know what these jockey clubs are after? I'll tell you. They want me to come to 'em next year and get down on my knees in the dust and beg 'em to let me make a book. 'Please, Mr. Jockey Club, let me make a book on your track. I haven't done anything wrong and don't belong to the Turf Alliance. Please let me make a book.' That's what they want me to say to 'em, and I see myself doing "The jockey clubs have built a wall between themselves and us," said a cooler member, " and one or the other has got to climb over before we can come to gether. Now, I'll bet $6,000 to $5,000 that I can name the party that does the climbing—and it won't be the Turf Alliance either."

The clubs were denounced in unmeasured terms, and the rooms of the Alliance in West Twenty-ninthwere extremely hot all the evening. This is the declaration of war:

"Resolved, That the subscribing jockey clubs agree that no contract for betting privileges be made with any association of bookmakers or any member there-

The subscribing clubs are the American, Concy Island, Brooklyn, Monmouth Park, Saratoga, Twin City (St. Paul and Minneapolis), Washington Park (Chicago), Latonia, Louisville, Lexington and St. Louis The action was taken at a meeting of the Eastern associations with the Turf Congress at the St. James Hotel in the afternoon. Said Mr. Withers: "There can be no misconstruction of the language of the reso lution. It means simply that no bookmakers' association and no member of a bookmakers' association will be allowed to make a book on the track of any jockey club represented here. We make no war on the Torf Alliance or any other organization. We don't intend to let any body of men combine against us and dictate terms. That's all. Bookmaking is a paying business. Plenty of men are ready to go int it who don't belong to 'Alliances.' "

Concerning weights, it was agreed that hereafter two-year-olds shall carry 118 pounds and three-year olds 122. It was at first proposed to reise the two-year-old scale to 120, but a majority of the conference seemed to think a jump of five pounds too much. The question of sex allowances under the new schedmains to be considered.

A committee of seven, consisting of Mesers Withers, Hunter, Lawrence, Dwyer and Wheatly, rep resenting the East, and Messrs. Clark and Brewster, representing the West, was appointed to formulate one set of racing rules and prepare one scale of weights for use throughout the United States. This committee will bold its first meeting in the rooms of the Coney Island Jockey Club on Monday evening. Mr. Withers believes that the work will last for several months. The members of the Turf Congress were the guests of the Coney Island Jockey Club at dinner last even-

DID THIS MAN MURDER HIS WIFE? In the tenement-house, No. 20 Dry Dock-st., a woman was found dead in bed yesterday morning and her husband, Edward Smith, was suspected of as he had struck her in the face his fist on Sunday. He is a hard og man, who has been employed for sixteen years in Quintard's Iron Works. She had been intoxicated for some days and she was un the influence of liquor when the family went to bed on Thursday night. Early yesterday morning when Smith got up to give some water to one of their children, he noticed that his wife was not snoring. He took a light to her bed and saw that she was dead. The police arrested him on suspicion yesterday, but expected that he would be discharged by a coroner as soon as an autopsy had made the cause of her death plain.

HIS HYMNS SUNG FOR A HUNDRED YEARS. The present year, which marks the one-hundredth an-niversary of the death of Charles Wesley, the poet and hymnist, has been thought appropriate for a cele-bration throughout the world. A committee having the matter in charge has corresponded with ministers and prominent laymen all over this country and England. It is proposed in all large cities to hold one central meeting on Sunday, December 9. Every minister is requested to make the occasion the subject of his sermon on that day, and to hold a memorial praise service in honor of Charles Wesley.
